Linking School to Business

Benefits For Employers

A TRY BEFORE YOU BUY RECRUITING METHOD

A direct link to students with sought-after skills and background without costly advertising and an abundance of unsuitable resumes to review.

A way to meet departmental needs for capable, motivated, entry-level employees.

The School-to-Career Programs can be used as time to evaluate a student as a potential permanent employee, without a long-term commitment.

School-to-Career programs reduce the cost of recruiting employees from outside the organization, particularly if students are hired permanently upon graduation.

Access to professional Work Experience Coordinators who arrange on-site interviews at your convenience.

Students are pre-screened to meet your needs. They are knowledgeable and efficient, requiring a shorter training period while at the same time becoming productive employees.

Often students have up-to-date training, knowledge and skills to immediately utilize the most current industry technology to respond to a specialty project need in your business

Employers have found that students offer a source of fresh and progressive ideas, important to a rapidly changing industry.

School and Business Partnerships

OUR MISSION

The School-to-Career program is a three-way partnership between the student, the employer, and the school that formally integrates periods of classroom study with work experience as the student masters certain levels of skill and theory. School-to-Work Career programs provide employers with students capable of making an immediate contribution to the goals of the organization. As a participating employer you will have the opportunity to meet and work with skilled students who may one day be seeking employment with you.

Employer Quote:

“The best thing about School-to-Work students is the infectious enthusiasm they bring to an office. Over the years, many tasks become mundane but to the student, it’s all new and interesting. This type of outlook often prompts other workers to gain a fresh perspective on some of the aspects of their own work.”

An Investment into the Future

School-to-Career programs provide the employer an opportunity to become involved, and to influence the educational process, by offering continuous feedback to the school, thereby, ensuring the programs are more responsive to industry needs.

By participating in cooperative education, employers have an opportunity to assist students in developing skills necessary for industry success in years to come.

The School-to-Career programs help to foster a partnership between industry and the school in developing future workforce needs.
